SUNDAY SCHOOL SOCIAL

Held at Congregational Church With Large Attendance and Fine Pro-

A delightful social and entertain-ment was given at the Greeneville Congregational church under the au-spices of the Sunday school Wednes-Congregational church under the auspices of the Sunday school Wednesday night. Thre was an attendance of nearly 300, and the programme was voted one of the most successful ones ever given by the school. The programme was opened by a song, Winter Song, by a male chorus of 15 members of the school, who made their first public appearance Wednesday evening. Mrs. Charles Tyler Bard favored the audience with a Greeting Song and was obliged to respond to the hearty encores. James Moore rendered Over the Desert in a pleasing voice and the chorus followed with a Hunting Song. Professor Lamontague, the famous magician, kept all guessing for nearly half an hour with his many magical tricks. Plane solos by Prof. Leutrel H. Balcom formed a feature of the evening and he was roundly encored. Refreshments of ice cream, cake and home made candy were served, after which those present left for their nomes much pleased with the entertainment, which was highly appreciated by all.

Services at St. Mary's Church. Lent was ushered in by St. Mary's parish Wednesday with a morning mass held at 7.30 o'clock. The attendance was large and many received the ashes which were distributed by Rev. J. H. Fitzmaurice, who was assisted by Rev. W. H. Kennedy. The parish mass was conducted by Father Fitzmaurice.

BARGE CAPTAIN LOST WITH WIFE AND CHILDREN Family of Four Swallowed Up with Their Vessel Off Bartlett's Reef.

During a heavy gale off Bartlett's reef early Wednesday morning, the barge Annie R., which was being towed by the tug Sarah F. McWilliams, foundered and it is believed that Captain Driscoil, his wife and their two small children, met a watery grave. The barge was the third of a tow of three and its loss was not noticed until the tug pulled up under New London light to anchor. The broken hawser at the rear of the second barge told a story as plain as words. told a story as plain as words. Captain Albert Free immediately anchored his barges and then retraced the course in the hope of being able to pick up the missing boat. The sea the course in the hope of being able to pick up the missing boat. The sea was running high. A search for several hours availed nothing. The search was continued again during the day and until late today, but no trace of the boat has been found.

Captain Free says he is not sure whether Driscoli had his family on board or not, but members of the crew assert positively that they saw Mrs. Driscoll and her children during the night.

> MORTGAGE CASE BEFORE THE SUPERIOR COURT Pawcatuck Parties in Complicated Action Before Judge Curtis.

The attempt to force a man to al-by another to redeem a morrgage was be basis of a suit heard at New Lon-on Wednesday by Judge Curtis in the ivil superior court. The title of the uit was Ernest A. Smith vs. Henry

. Walton. Both are of Pawcatuck. Smith, who is a contractor, secured a loan from Walton's father, and gave the eider Walton a mortgage, which upon the eider Walton's death came to the de-fendant in this suit. Subsequently Smith gave other mortgages to Walton and one to a bank.

All of these mortgages finally came into Walton's possession, who began suit for foreclosure of Smith's house, a brick block and other parcels of property against which the mortgages were applied. Judgment was given Walton by agreement and the time limit for redemption was fixed. Then Smith, before the day of re-demption, was to Walton and wanted to redeem the mortgages in new Waldemption, went to Walton and wanted to redeem the mortgages in part. Walton refused the money, claiming that Smith had no right to pay in the manner in which he wanted to.

Then Smith retained the money and it was placed in an envelope and left at a bank as evidence of his intent to redeem the mortgages in part. Then he brought this suit to compel Walton to allow him to redeem as he wished. Since the money was placed in the

Since the money was placed in the bank a suit has been brought against Walton and this money has been garnished, further complicating the matter. Attorneys Hull, McGuire & Hull appeared for Smith and Attorney Donald G. Perkins for Walton.
